LAND MAN GAVE LOTS AWAY HERE

J. N. Parsons Made Free Gift of the Georgia Land For $8.75 to Pay For Incidentals.

INCLUDES ABSTRACT AND DEED

Promised to Return Here Jan 14 to Take Recipients to South Free of Charge.

A story emanating from St. Paul by way of the Greensburg Democrat that Dr. D. L. Ballard, L. A. Jewett and George Hess, three prominent men of that town, were duped by a land grafter who was purported to be selling and giving away Georgia land, sounds like the story which a land agent told here and which he succeeded in making several local men believe. The agent gave his name as J. N. Parsons, but so far the plan had not proved to be a graft. It yet remains to be seen whether or not Mr. Parsons will turn up on the day that he promised to.

J. N. Parsons spent several days here recently calling on local business men. He said that he was working for the Consolidated Land and Realty Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, which firm is engaged in disposing of Georgia land. Mr. Parsons explained that it was the desire of the company to attract farmers to their new land and sell them many acres of the cheap, but fertile ground. In order to draw farmers there, his company gives away free lots to business men so that their names can be used for reference in talking to farmers. The lots are, so Mr. Parsons said, adjoining a town in central Georgia which is fast becoming a thriving business center.

But wait, here's where the financial part comes in. In order to get the free lots, the business men must pay two dollars for the deed and $6.75 for the abstract, all of which is paid to the land company. Not many local men went any farther than that. Dr. D. H. Dean was interested, but did not see fit to accept a lot free of charge. Greeley McCarty, J. A. Craig, A. R. Holden, and John Knecht were also interested and it is understood that some of them paid out their $8.75.

But in order to lead the buyers to believe that there is no graft about the proposition, Mr. Parsons said that he would take three of the men who accepted a lot and paid for the deed and abstract, to the scene of action on a special train out of Indianapolis free of charge. J. A. Craig, John Knecht and A. R. Holden were selected to go from Rushville. He was to return January 14, so it yet remains to be seen whether or not the land giving is a graft. One of the men who was selected to take the free trip has said that he will not go. Parsons told a local business man that he had succeeded in giving away nine lots here.

The story is exactly the same as the one concerning the St. Paul business men. They paid $8.75 to have the lots given to them and were promised a free trip to Georgia to have a look at them. It is to be presumed that Parsons also worked there since the two stories are exactly alike. The St. Paul men have presumed that they are the victims of a land shark, but that is not definite until it is ascertained whether or not Parsons shows up at the proper time.

Several business men here were impressed with the proposition as they received letters from the land company at Cincinnati.

COLEMAN IS RE-ELECTED

Name Vice President of Live Stock Breeders' Association.

At a meeting of the Indiana Live Stock Breeders' Association in Indianapolis this week, Warren T. McCray was elected president, and Thomas A. Coleman of this county was elected vice-president of the organization for the ensuing year. Several notable speakers from all parts of the United States were there and the session was considered a very profitable and instructive one.

LOCAL MEMBERS TO GO TO CONVENTION

Several Merchants May Attend State Convention of Indiana Retail Merchants Association.

TO BE HELD IN ANDERSON

It is very probable that several members of the Rushville Retail Merchants' Association will go to Anderson to attend the Indiana Retail Merchants' Association State convention which will be held January 17, 18 and 19. President Clark of Anderson and the directors of the organization held a meeting at Anderson recently when all of the final arrangements were completed. It will be remembered that President Clark was here when the local association was organized. It was later decided that the Rushville Retail Merchants' Association should become a member of the State organization. Indications point to the largest crowd in the history of the association. Several local merchants are planning to attend.

POLICE ANSWERED BURGLARY CALL

Home of Mrs. Emma Reese Entered Sometime Yesterday—Nothing of Value Missing.

WAS DISCOVERED LAST NIGHT

The police were called to the home of Mrs. Emma Reese in South Jackson street last night about eight-thirty o'clock in answer to a burglary call.

Mrs. Reese had not been home since early in the morning and on returning last night, found that someone had entered the house by breaking the glass in a window. The house was in disorder and things were scattered all over the floor. It is thought that the thieves were after money as nothing was missed by Mrs. Reese. According to the police the house was probably entered in the daytime as no one was home and this would have been the easiest time to enter. They have no clue as to who the robber is.

SO SAY WE ALL OF US.

Franklin Star: Many neighboring newspapers are carrying large advertisements for Indianapolis merchants, a policy that is short-sighted to say the least, as these papers must depend almost wholly upon their local merchants for business and anything that tends to remove their trade is harmful to the whole community. Those papers could well forego the few dollars they get from that class of advertising.

LAST SESSION WAS HELD TODAY

Large Crowd in Attendance at the Final Meeting of the Farmers' Institute.

JOE P. PRIGG SPOKE AGAIN

Miss Berry, Instructor in Domestic Science at Purdue, Pleased With Interesting Address.

The farmers institute closed today after a most successful session. One of the features of today's meeting was the special session for women, which was held in conjunction with the regular institute program. The largest crowd of the week was in attendance and the assembly room of the court house was crowded all day.

The morning session opened by an address by Joe P. Prigg, on the subject, "The Care of the Brood Sow and Litter." Mr. Prigg pleased the large audience with his talk as he has done all through the week at the various institutes held throughout the county. In opening his address he told the farmers that he hesitated about talking on his subject as Rush county ranked among the first, if not the first, in raising hogs and because of this fact they did not need much instruction along this particular line. According to Mr. Prigg, this county is far in advance of others in raising live stock of all kinds. Mr. Prigg said he believed that in raising hogs the farmer should not use a cross-bred, but stick to a full blooded hog. He gave some very valuable information in the care of the brood sow and if followed by the farmer would increase his hog production.

Mr. Prigg was followed by Miss Berry, instructor in domestic science at Purdue University. Miss Berry took for her subject, "Planning Housework." Her talk was very interesting especially to the women. She told the women how they could make their housework easier by planning ahead.

The afternoon session opened with a duet by the Misses Ruth Aldridge and Florence Giffin which was greatly appreciated. Miss Berry appeared again and pleased with a talk on "Home Study for Women." The feature of this session was the discussion led by local women.

The institute closed with the election of officers and a business session.

Charles Frazee Writes State Statistician That Estimated Population of Rushville is 4,999.

WILL HOPE UNTIL THE LAST

The State statistician is endeavoring to get an estimate of the population of all cities in Indiana under five thousand inhabitants, which so far have been announced by the census bureau. The State official wrote to Charles Frazee, postmaster here, and asked for an estimate of the number of people in Rushville. The postmaster wrote back that he knew it was not five thousand, but that he believed that it could not be less than 4,999. He hopes that such is the case at any rate.

SEND NOBLE HERE TO STAND TRIAL

Decatur County Judge Grants Change of Venue to Rush County in Murder Case.

ALLEGED MURDERER WAS HERE

On Account of Feeling Against Noble, Sheriff Says he Will Take Him to Indianapolis.

The walls and roof of the Rush county jail sheltered last night and may be sheltering now Ben Noble of Decatur county, the confessed murderer of Albert Sprague, who lived in the northern part of Decatur county, near the Rush-Decatur county line. The famous murder case, which has caused the authorities of the neighboring county no little concern is now out of their way. They sent it to Rush county on a change of venue and now the local authorities must deal with the question.

The feeling against Noble has been very high in Greensburg and it is for that reason that Noble has been held in Indianapolis. It was thought that mob rule might reign in Greensburg long enough for Noble to be taken from the jail and possibly injured. It is for this very same reason that Sheriff Bebout has given out the word here that he does not intend that Noble shall reside under his roof. He purposes to take the same precautions that the sheriff of Decatur county did and lodge Noble in the Indianapolis jail some time soon. Sheriff Bebout said that he would not give out any information concerning the time when he would transport Noble to Indianapolis. He says that he expects to take him quietly and secretly when it is the least expected that he will.

Noble was taken from Indianapolis into the Decatur circuit court at Greensburg yesterday morning, where his attorney filed a motion for a change of venue. The judge granted it at once and the case was sent to this county. Noble was brought here last night and turned over to Sheriff Bebout. He will be called upon to answer to a charge of murder, which is one of the most atrocious crimes ever perpetrated in this section of the State, in the next term of court here which opens in February.

Noble murdered his employer and benefactor, Albert Sprague, one night last July as he lay asleep beside his wife. Noble was caught and lodged in jail, but the feeling against him ran so high that he was taken to the Marion county jail at once. While in Indianapolis the sheriff of Decatur county wrung a complete confession of the murder from Noble's lips. He was taken to Greensburg and entered a plea of guilty, but the jury could not agree, being divided between death sentence and life imprisonment. Noble has now repudiated his confession and will fight for his life.

According to Greensburg papers, Noble did not seem to be the least bit affected by his alleged crime the first time he appeared in court there. But now it seems that his demeanor has changed considerably and that he has a worn and haggard look. He appears bent and weakened, has a shiftless and furtive glance and has lost his usual healthy color.

HAS BLOOD POISONING.

Shelbyville Democrat: Ben Mahan went to Rush county today where he will spend a week with relatives. Mr. Mahan scratched one of his fingers while at work at the wardrobe factory several days ago and yesterday blood poisoning began. He will not be able to work for several days.

POINTS TO RUSH COUNTY

Connorsville News Would Know What is the Matter With Spelling Bee.

Sometime ago there was much talk of a spelling contest in this county, but of late nothing has been heard about it, says the Connorsville News. The plan briefly was to have contests beginning in districts, then townships and counties, and finally one big district round-up. They are active over in Rush.

DISCHARGED GUN DID NO DAMAGE

One of Those "Didn't Know it Was Loaded" Kind, Went Off in a Gwynneville Home.

CHARGE WAS BURIED IN WALL

An accident which might have resulted in a tragedy, which would have been charged up to the old excuse, "I didn't know it was loaded," occurred yesterday, when Raymond Wilcoxon accidentally discharged a shotgun in the home of his father, C. S. Wilcoxon, near Gwynneville, says the Shelbyville Democrat. The young man was going to Fayette county to visit his uncle and he had secured his shotgun to take with him. He did not know the gun was loaded and was examining it in a room where several members of the family were standing. He pulled the trigger and was paralyzed to see the gun exploded. Fortunately the muzzle was not pointed toward any of the family at the time and no one was injured. The charge tore away the back of a chair, shattered a bureau and buried itself in the wall, where it made a large hole.

TWO ELECTIONS MAY BE RESULT

If Governor's Recommendations Are Enacted Into Law, Liquor Question Will Bob up Soon.

OPTION COMES TO END SOON

If the recommendation of Governor Marshall as expressed in his message to the legislature, in regard to the county local option law, are enacted into a law, it seems that two elections are possible in Rushville township at the expiration of the dry period the latter part of February. This condition will arise from the provisions of the proposed law which will make the incorporated towns and cities a unit in determining dry or wet territory, leaving the country outside the corporation limits another unit.

There seems no doubt whatever that if the recommendations of the governor are carried out, the element in Rushville which favors saloons will seek to have an election called and have steps taken to establish saloons in this city. There is but little possibility of the territory outside of Rushville being made the subject of a campaign.

In the election to determine the wet or dry condition of Rushville the voters living outside of the corporate limits of the city will have no right of suffrage under the provisions of the proposed law. It will be the carrying out of the home rule theory of Governor Marshall.

FIRST OF MEN'S MEETS PLANNED

Dr. George L. Macintosh, President of Wabash College, Will Speak Sunday, Jan. 15.

LOCAL MEN REMEMBER HIM.

Same Program Will Be Carried Out as in Former Years—Other Meetings Coming.

That the Men's Big Meeting will be highly successful this winter is evidenced by the impetus it will be given by the first meeting of the set, which will be held in the St. Paul M. E. church, on Sunday afternoon, January 15th, or one week from tomorrow, when Dr. George L. Macintosh, president of Wabash College, located at Crawfordsville, will deliver a lecture. It will be the first meeting of the kind for the winter and the various committees in charge of the meetings are expecting an unprecedented crowd for the first one of the winter.

There is no doubt in the mind of any Rushville man, who ever heard George L. Macintosh here or on any other platform, but that the committee could not have acted more wisely in selecting the speaker for the first meeting of the year than they did. Dr. Macintosh has delivered lectures here for several years and with each succeeding year the crowd that is attracted to hear him grows larger. The college president has proven to be one of the most satisfactory men who ever talked to a crowd of men in Rushville, and the news of his coming will no doubt be greeted with much pleasure by regular attendants of the winter meetings. Dr. Macintosh will speak on "The Work of a Man."

About the same program will be carried out this winter as has been done in previous years. A musical program, which will be started promptly at two-thirty o'clock in the afternoon, will be given before the address. The instrumental music will be furnished by A. P. Wagoner's orchestra. For the first meeting, one week from tomorrow, much special music is being arranged. Several solos, duets and quartets will be on the program aside from the regular orchestra numbers.

The committee in charge of the Men's Big Meetings are looking forward to a very profitable winter. At present they have no more speakers to announce, but within the next few weeks they expect to arrange for the remaining meetings. They expect to get several prominent men here to keep up the high standard which has already been set in previous years.

A special plea is made for men over the county to attend the meetings. The committees intend that they shall not be only for Rushville men, but for every man who can possibly find the way and means to get to Rushville. Last winter many farmers and residents of small towns over the county were interested and many from the out districts came for the profitable addresses.

VERY UNUSUAL YEAR.

It has been 112 years since all the numerals of the date of the year have been odd numbers. The last time was in the year 1799. It will be 89 years from the date of the new year until all the numerals will be even, or in the year 2000. The ciphers are counted as even numbers.

THE WEATHER

Unsettled with local rain or snow tonight or Sunday. Moderate temperature.

Would Amend State Marriage Law Which Is Now In Vogue

A new clause to the Indiana marriage law which would require an application for a marriage license to be filed five days before the issuance of the license, which is in line with the recommendation made by the uniform laws commission of the National Civic Federation and adopted by the American Association, is being advocated by V. H. Lockwood at Indianapolis. Mr. Lockwood has not prepared a bill, but thinks the public should become sufficiently interested in marriage laws to be enacted. The two new sections proposed are as follows:

Section 1. That application for a marriage license must be made at least five days before the license shall be issued; provided that, in cases of emergency or extraordinary circumstances, the judge of the circuit court may authorize the license to be issued at any time before the expiration of said five days.

Sec. 2. Immediately upon entering in application for a license the clerk shall post in his office a notice giving the names and residences of the parties applying therefor, and the date of the application. Any person believing that the statement of the application are false, or that the applicants, or either of them, are incompetent to marry, may file with the circuit court in the county in which the license is applied for, a petition under oath setting forth the grounds of the objection to the marriage and asking for a rule upon the parties making such application to show cause why the license should not be refused.

Mr. Lockwood said a similar statute is found in Maine, that substantially the first section is in the Wisconsin law school, and that Louisiana the law is to endeavor to prevent marriage by people under age who falsely state their ages, fraudulent marriages, hasty marriages and the marriage of other persons in violation of the marriage statute."

In Mr. Lockwood's opinion, the present law, which provides against the marriage of physical and mental incompetents, has had no pronounced practical effect because the law is not self-enforcing. "The license clerk of Marion county told me that out of a total number of applicants for marriage licenses during the last five years probably twenty thousand, only two have admitted the possibility of being legally objectionable," said Mr. Lockwood. "One woman said she had suffered from epilepsy and one man stated that he had tuberculosis. The five-day provision would enable the public to protect itself against the marriage of the very seriously defective."

Fooled the Poor Savages.

Robert Louis Stevenson used to relate the following amusing story told him by a south sea trader. He had been in the habit of carrying all sorts of tinned meats, which the natives bought with avidity. Each tin was branded with a colored picture—a cow for beef, a sheep for mutton and a fish for sardines. It happened that the firm which furnished the mutton thought it a good plan to alter its labels, that its goods might be more easily distinguished from the others. The mark chosen was the figure of a frock coated Stiggins-like individual in a chimney pot hat. The natives at once came to the conclusion that the tins contained potted missionary, and there was a great run on the new line of goods.

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

It makes Weak Women Strong. It makes Sick Women Well. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

SOLONS TAKING A DAY OF REST

Indiana Assembly Will Reconvene Monday Afternoon.

PLACE SEEKERS BEING TESTED

Representative Racey, Who Has Charge of the "Soup Tureen," Told All Applicants For Jobs to Have Their Pleas in Their Own Handwriting, as Penmanship Would Be One of the Tests of Fitness.

Indianapolis, Jan. 7.—Many of the legislators left the city yesterday afternoon following a brief session in both houses of the general assembly, expecting to spend today and Sunday at home. As adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, plenty of time was given for all to get back in their seats on that day.

The chief work in the house yesterday was the passage under suspension of rules, of an act appropriating $120,000 for the expenses of the assembly. The measure was introduced by Representative Cravens, chairman of the legislative visiting committee and said to be slated for the position of chairman of the ways and means committee and the floor leadership of the majority. A chorus of "We're for it," and "We all need the money," greeted the introduction of this first supply measure, and the bill was pushed through in short order. The senate did not wait for the bill, which will reach it Monday afternoon. The bill, since it was for an appropriation, had to originate in the house.

Job Hunters Disappointed.

Hungry job hunters saw the session open and close in the house without the covers being moved from the soup tureen. They were told that the stuff would be ready by Monday afternoon, when spoons would be handed out to the selected ones.

Representative W. S. Racey of Knox county is in charge of the plunder kitchen, and spent much time in preparing the mess and listening to the favored ones. All the places were filled during the session yesterday by persons who have been anxiously awaiting appointment and who were willing to work their best during the day and take their chances. An army of would-be clerks was ready to "take their pens in hand," but Racey told them there was nothing doing until Monday. Nothing will be given out concerning appointments until that time.

The penmanship test will be used by Racey and his committee in assisting them to separate the wheat from the chaff in the list of applicants. All members were told by Racey to have the names of their candidates for places in the handwriting of the appointees, in the hands of the committee by 11 o'clock Monday, and the penmanship will be used to an extent in determining the qualifications of the applicants.

"We have plenty of people who want to work," announced Racey, "but we don't know very much about their abilities."

In the Senate.

Action was taken by the senate for the preparation of bills covering all suggestions for legislation contained in Governor Marshall's message. Senator Harlan offered a resolution that the president of the senate appoint a committee of five, consisting of three majority members and two minority members, which shall consider subjects mentioned in the governor's message assign them to the various committees for action. This committee may act either with a similar committee which may be appointed by the house, or independently. Several of the governor's suggestions are not known as party platform measures, and the idea is to carry out the governor's recommendations completely. Lieutenant Governor Hall appointed to this special committee Senators Harlan, Stotsenberg and Fleming, Democrats, and Wood and Higgins, Republicans.

A motion for the appointment of a committee to prepare proper resolutions in memory of Carroll K. McCullough, a former senator from Madison county, who died since the last session, was introduced by Senator Stotsenberg. The motion was unanimously approved by a rising vote, and Lieutenant Governor Hall appointed the following as members of the committee: Senators Netterville, Shively and Kane. The committee was instructed to report Monday.

A resolution offered by Senator Proctor that all bills be presented to the clerk in duplicate copies was approved unanimously. No attempt was made to introduce bills.

Will Resist the Suit.

Tipton, Ind., Jan. 7.—Joshua Crafton, former trustee of Wildcat township, made defendant in a suit for $35,000 for township funds said to have been wrongfully appropriated, will fight the suit in the Tipton circuit court. HOW WAS POISON ADMINISTERED?

The Twigg-Elosser Mystery No Nearer Solution.

A SENSATION AT THE INQUEST

First Physician to Arrive at the Stricken Home Testified Before Coroner That Miss Elosser's Sister May Also Showed Decided Symptoms of Cyanide Poisoning and Was Revived With Difficulty.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 7.—When Dr. W. R. Foard, the first physician to arrive on the scene, testified that May Elosser, sister of the dead girl, who had fainted, showed decided symptoms of cyanide poisoning, a decided sensation was sprung at the coroner's inquest into the deaths of Mary Grace Elosser and Charles Edward Twigg, a Keyser, W. Va., merchant, who were to have been married New Year's day. Dr. Foard said the symptoms in May's condition were those of slight poisoning.

May was revived after fifteen minutes' work. Dr. Foard said he looked about the rooms for a container or some other evidence of poisoning, but found none. The only thing was the empty half of a capsule which had contained chewing gum, under the music cabinet. The capsule was broken and it could not have held a powder or liquid. Dr. Foard said when he entered the house the members of the family were excited, and Mrs. Elosser and her daughter May were crying. He pronounced Grace dead after a thorough examination, and he did not know of Twigg's dead body in the next room until he was ushered in by Mr. Elosser, who said: "Just see what's in here."

Lee H. Ash of Keyser, W. Va., who clerked in Twigg's store, said that Saturday, when Twigg left for Cumberland, he was in a happy mood. Ash, however, said Twigg never told him about going to get married, and he only suspected his intended action by what his wife (Mrs. Ash) had told him. Mr. Ash said Mr. Twigg was not married, nor to his knowledge was he in trouble with any woman. He said Twigg was worth about $40,000. There was no indication on the part of Twigg of any contemplated tragic action.

The testimony of Dr. Thomas W. Keon, who performed the autopsy, was that death came from some form of cyanide poisoning, probably a liquid, from the effect it had on the throat and stomach.

Dr. Francis E. Harrington, city health officer, who analyzed the stomachs, testified that the poison used was a cyanide. Both stomachs were very much inflamed.

George Barker, chemist, corroborated Dr. Harrington, saying tests showed the poison was not metallic or alkali, but cyanide. There was no trace of any poison in the chewing gum found in Twigg's mouth or in his pockets.

Vernon Twigg, younger brother of the dead man, said he worked for his brother on his orchard and farm, and that cyanide was not used in spraying trees in the orchard and he had never heard of it before. They used a solution of lead and lime of sulphur. Vernon Twigg is one of the beneficiaries of his brother's will. He testified that Thomas Twigg, the brother next to Charles, who is a plumber of Keyser, was cut out of the will. Young Twigg said: "Charlie and Tom had been on the outs for several years and never spoke to each other." Tom, he said, drinks to excess.

Willard Twigg, another brother, told the jury that Charlie had not visited the farm the week before, after he prescribed the poisons used in orchard spraying. The Twigg boys both said they could advance no reason for their brother's suicide, if he committed the act.

DO YOU GET YOUR MONEY'S WORTH?

Every day buying is becoming more of a science. To buy the right kind of goods at the right prices requires discrimination and care—anyone can rush out and buy any old kind of goods from the first dealer he finds.

Some people fail to get the most for their money when it comes to buying their supplies, but are very particular about unimportant matters.

A great help in this direction are the advertisements of the merchants.

Before visiting the stores one can make the task comparatively easy by securing a great deal of information from the announcements of the dealers.

Then shopping can be more intelligently done.

A dealer's sins will sooner or later find him out if he makes a misstatement in his advertisement, and you may depend upon it that he can not keep it up for any great length of time.

It will lose him trade.

The dealer can not afford to misrepresent. He tells the public exactly what he has to sell and explains in honest terms the value of his goods. He is worthy of your confidence and can be depended upon implicitly. This dealer regularly makes his announcements through the columns of the newspapers.

Advertising is the searchlight which reveals true character and only the truth alone can stand regular advertising.

It will pay you to read the advertisements.

From now on for a while if anything goes wrong in Indiana, Governor Marshall will not be able to lay the blame on Republican State officials or a Republican Senate. It's simply up to the Democrats now to make good or otherwise, they have everything their own way.

It is expected that the repeal of the amendment of the county option law will be one of the first matters taken up by the legislature and it will be disposed of early in the session, together with other Democratic measures, says the New Castle Times. This done the majority of the Democrats favor an enactment of a law which will place a strict regulation on the liquor business and remove features which heretofore have been objectionable.

For the past week, the newspapers of Indiana have been jumping upon the poor road supervisors, charging them with all the faults of an antiquated, inefficient and wasteful system of road maintenance, says the Goshen News. Isn't there somebody in Indiana big enough and broad enough to avoid finding fault with the old worn out system, and to suggest a new system and push it until it becomes a law in operation? This is not a critical age. This is a constructive age.

Tons Get Down to Pounds
Want to "put one over" on the high cost of living? asks the Chicago Record Herald.
Get your family together, then get your family's families together, and then get all the branches and twigs of the whole family tree in touch with the trunk, organize a general store, and bid for rates and discounts on the wholesale prices.
That's what the Tons are going to do.
There are 600 living descendants of John Ton, who came from Holland in 1849. More than 400 of them live on the South Side and within a radius of three miles of One Hundred and Thirtieth street and Michigan avenue.
Out of this number it happens that three members of the family have grocery stores. They have been delegated as a special committee to investigate and report on what can be done to cut a nick in the high cost of living for the benefit of the whole family of families. It is then proposed that a big co-operative general store be organized and produce and general supplies be bought and sold to members of the family at wholesale prices.
"We are simply meeting an economic evolution of the times," said Cornelius J. Ton, who has offices in the First National Bank Building. "We claim to be the largest family in Illinois. Our challenge to this claim has never yet been taken up, so it is but natural that we should take the lead in this effort to band families against the cold-blooded corporations that are organized to extort from the individual consumer."

Mrs. Mary Woodward is specially interested in his lemon efforts, for she believes she has beaten him a few inches in the size of the lemons she raises right here in Dublin.

Mrs. Woodward has a tree that is only four years old. It stands five feet and one inch high and bears three lemons, the largest of which is thirteen inches in circumference and six and a fourth inches in length. The others are 9 3/4 x 5 1/4 and 8 1/4 x 4 inches. The tree originally contained eight lemons, but five of them were pulled off by Mrs. Woodward's little granddaughter.

ASKS PAPERS TO TELL PATRONS
State Superintendent Declares Uniform Text Book Law Has Saved State $3,500,000
IN THE LAST TWENTY YEARS
Urges County Superintendent to Lead in Fight to Stop Effort to Repeal Statute.

Charles A. Greathouse, State superintendent of public instruction, has addressed a circular letter to every county superintendent in the State and C. M. George of Rush county is among the fortunate ones. The letter is in regard to the uniform text book law for the common schools of the State. Mr. Greathouse declares that the law saved the school patrons of Indiana more than $3,500,000 in the twenty years or more that it has been working.

The State superintendent is very earnest in his urgent request for the county superintendents to assist him in avoiding the scene of two years ago in this legislature. He says that lobbyists for the book concerns made a concerted effort and almost succeeded in getting control of enough legislators to repeal the law. Mr. Greathouse has arranged a large amount of data on the subject to put before the legislature in case the assault of two years ago is made against the law. That the book concerns would repeal it is evidence enough that the law is detrimental to their business and a saving of money to the school patrons of Indiana.

Mr. Greathouse asked Mr. George to get the facts about the workings of the law before the people and he rightly suggested that he use the newspapers as the medium to reach the people. Mr. Greathouse is attempting to carry out the policies advocated by his predecessor Robert J. Ale, who resigned to accept the presidency of a university in Maine. Mr. George agrees with every statement advanced by Mr. Greathouse in his argument against repealing the law. The local man believes it has saved the school patrons of Rush county a large sum since it has been on the statutes.

From reports received from other State superintendents, that of the superintendent of Michigan, was selected as a representative one. In that State a large number of the text books from the same publishers that supply Indiana are used, and thus a common ground for comparison can be found. A comparison of the prices paid in the two States shows that the prices are from ten to forty per cent higher than those paid in Indiana.

According to an interview given out to the Indianapolis News Mr. Greathouse says he will combat any movement which may be started at the present session of the General Assembly to repeal the law. When such an attempt was made two years ago it made considerable progress, because the educational forces of the State were not looking for such a movement which was engineered by the school book trust, and were found napping. The repeal measure made considerable progress before it was sidetracked.

"Since the adoption of the constitution in 1850 our school system has been in a constant state of evolution," continued Mr. Greathouse. "To advance it the people have made great and willing sacrifices. From the day of the log school house, when the people were taught the rudiments but three months in the year, until the present, its growth and expansion has been steady and good, until now Indiana can claim proudly and justly that its system of public schools is excelled by none in the country.

"To keep this justly regarded sacred department of our government graft and every corruption should be the firm resolve of every man connected with the school system in the State. The commercialism of the day should not be permitted to spread its influence over this most essential part of our government. The management of the schools should be made with an eye single to the education of those on whom the responsibilities of government will soon rest.

"A repeal of the uniform text book law would be a serious blow to the Indiana system of supervision. That system provides a State board of education at the head, with the State superintendent as their active agent; county superintendents over the counties; city superintendents in the cities and the affairs of the local schools in charge of township trustees. This law has greatly reduced the cost of books in this State. For example, the same advanced geography that is sold in this State for seventy-five cents, is sold in another State for one dollar and twenty-five cents. Our history that sells for sixty-five cents, is sold in another place for a dollar. This will give you an idea of the difference in the cost of school books in this State as compared with the cost of the same books in other States that do not have uniform text book law. In the administration of public affairs we should stand for two things, efficiency and economy. Students of education are agreed that greater efficiency will result from the use of uniform text books than from a system, which places one kind of book one place and another in another, so that there is a great lack of system. As to economy, the foregoing figures speak more plainly than words."

That an effort will likely be made to repeal the law is evidenced by the influences at work in the last Republican State convention when it was charged that the school book trust attempted to choose a candidate for the office of State superintendent of public instruction.

SENATOR MOORE IS FORTUNATE

Draws Place on 4 Important Committees in Legislature From Lieut. Gov. Hall's Hands.

MINORITY GETS SHORT END

Senator E. E. Moore of Fayette and Rush counties, has received fairly good treatment from Lieutenant Governor Hall on Senate committees for a minority member, says the Connersville News. As is generally known, committees of the Senate are made up of five majority and two minority members, which is not giving the latter much show in shaping legislation. Senator Moore has been placed on the committees on elections, benevolent institutions, phraseology of bills (a matter by the way of great importance when one remembers how many laws have been rendered null and void by a little "joker," a missing word or a comma in the wrong place) Senator Moore will be quite at home as he served in a similar capacity at former sessions and did good work.

He will also doubtless be heard from in reference to benevolent institutions, as the Senator has a "nose" for facts and details and will be apt to dig up about all the information obtainable that will assist in guiding the General Assembly. On elections it is not so well understood what his duty will be. Nor can one without a chart or something to help him, tell what a lone Republican can do in "regulating" appointments made by the executive. But this may develop later.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About
TO TEST BOARD'S RIGHT.
(Indianapolis Star.)
To test the right of the State Board of Accounts to collect a bill of about $1,700 expended to discover alleged shortages of county officers, the board of county commissioners of Shelby county yesterday instructed County Attorney M. O. Sullivan to enjoin Auditor George Huntington from issuing a warrant on Treasurer Parkhurst for the payment of the bill. The injunction suit will be started as soon as the State files the bill. A large part of the bill is for auditing the books of township trustees in Shelby county. The commissioners there take the stand that the State has no right to go summarily into a county and create bills to be paid by taxpayers of the county, without a request from some of the local officers. Other counties have taken a similar stand.

CALL IT A JOKE.
(Hartford City Times-Gazette.)

The $35,000 suit filed in the circuit court last Friday against Cyrus J. Neff, ex-trustee of Harrison township, by Attorney General James Bingham, is regarded as a huge joke and it is hardly within the range of possibilities that the case will ever be tried or the township will ever recover a cent of the money Neff is alleged to have speculated.

The little joker which renders the suits practically worthless lies in the statute of limitation. The law provides that bondsmen are not liable after the lapse of five years. Patton and Neff completed their terms Jan. 1, 1905, and in order to hold the bondsmen liable it would have been necessary to bring suit before Jan. 1, 1909. The bondsmen are not even mentioned in the complaint prepared by the attorney general against Patton and Neff.

in an excellent state of preservation and there is doubtless a premium on it. Newton was on-board on inter-urban car recently and the conductor had accepted the old dollar given him in payment of a fare. At the time he did not notice its peculiar characteristics and thoughtlessly dropped it in his pocket. In making change for Newton however, the dollar came to the surface and finally changed ownership, Newton offering $2 for it. He wanted this old dollar to add to his collection of coins and finally the conductor let it go for two to one.

The dollar of 1804 is said to be one of the fewest coins in existence. A year ago last month a Logansport man sold one to a New York firm for $1,200. Newton has been unable to ascertain the value of his pocket piece.

The Rev. W. H. Clark, former pastor of the United Presbyterian church here, but now in charge of the First Presbyterian church at Connerville, is planning to hold a two weeks' protracted meeting in Connerville, beginning January 15. J. W. Ramsey, the singing evangelist, who has been here for two protracted meetings and who won a warm place in the hearts of many local people, will assist in the meeting. It is probable that several local people will attend some of the services.

Marion Business Men Meet But Report Little Progress Toward $30,000 Subscription.

ONLY ELEVEN AT THE SESSION

Three, However, Buy Preferred Stock in Scott-Madden Foundry to Locate It.

While only eleven representative business men of Marion attended the mass meeting which had been called for Thursday evening by Secretary Wiley and others of the Marion Commercial club, considerable was accomplished toward the bringing to Marion of the Scott-Madden Iron Works, and it is believed that the amount of stock can be sold by next Tuesday, that is necessary to dispose of in order to bring the factory to this city, says the Marion Chronicle.

Secretary Wiley opened the meeting by saying "If Marion people, that is the people who are to be benefited by the advent of an industry carrying a big pay roll, want to help themselves they had better get busy. It will be necessary for everybody to get together on this proposition if this industry is to come to this city."

Mr. Wiley then went into some detail of the investigation made by the factory committee of the Commercial club of the conditions of the company's business affairs and its prospects for the future.

His remarks were immediately followed by the sale of $3,000 worth of the preferred stock, each of the following men buying $1,000 worth of the stock: J. L. Barley, Harry Gabel and Col. J. L. McCulloch.

While there was no more stock sold at the meeting it is believed that the committee which started out to earn the city for sales of the stock Friday morning will meet with excellent success and that the remaining $30,000 worth of stock will be disposed of by Tuesday. The committee is headed by President Lewis and Secretary Wiley of the Commercial club, who have considerable experience in selling stock and who are well informed as to the standing of the Scott-Madden company.

Those who have made an investigation say that there seems to be no opportunity for those investing in the preferred stock to lose. The stocks bear six per cent interest and the company will sign an agreement that the pay roll at the very start will be $1,125 weekly and that it will be just double that amount in six months.

AMUSEMENTS

Buster Brown appeared at the Vaudet last night and pleased large audiences at each show. He will be there again tonight. The usual two reels of pictures will also be shown and a new illustrated song will be sung.

The Palace will show an Essanay film tonight, "The Greater Call." It is the story of a mother who deserts her child for the stage and they regrets it. Another of the "Hank and Lank" pictures will also be shown. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Star Grand offers a Yankee picture tonight entitled "Mrs. Denvers' Divorce." Denvers was a "good fellow" in all that term implies with but one exception: that good fellowship did not extend to his wife, who was compelled to suffer much humiliation because of his methods. His disgusting conduct caused a misunderstanding and he sued his wife for divorce. He knew he alone was to blame. Earl Robertson will sing "Any Old Time."

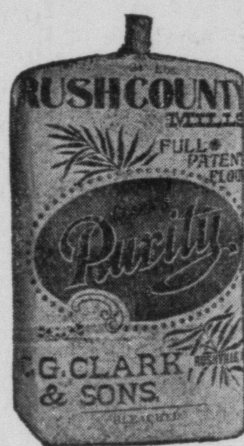

Men's Meeting

The men of the First Presbyterian Church will meet Sabbath Afternoon, January 8th at 2 o'clock in the Lecture Room of Church

CHAPTER XVIII.

An Attack.

The fact that their enemy was alone and that he was Roscoe himself was responsible for the conviction that Cayley's wings were all that stood between them and an attack. No terror attributable to human causes would have held back that solitary and altogether desperate outcast.

The thing in the situation which caused Cayley the most uneasiness was the fear that some time or other Roscoe would solve the mystery, would see him in the very act of taking to the air. This fear suggested an expedient to him one day as he was flying along near the snow-crested edge of the cliff.

"I don't know why I never thought of it before," he said to Jeanne as he alighted beside her a moment or two afterward; "but I've got it now—the way to prevent Roscoe from ever solving the mystery of your guardian angel. I thought of it when I saw the mound up on the cliff-head that is formed by the observatory. It can't be buried so very deep in the snow because the mound isn't so very big. I'm going up there now to dig it out, enough, at least, so that I can take wing from there."

"You never can dig out enough snow to get a running start up there," she objected.

"I sha'n't have to. I'll just dive off the cliff."

"Phillip, you sha'n't!"

"Why not?"

"You know what you told me yourself. That none of the big birds can take to the air without a running start; and about taking pelicans and birds like that up into high buildings and throwing them out of windows, and how they were always killed."

"That's because they've only got instinct instead of intelligence. None of their family had ever been thrown out of windows before, and they didn't know what to do. But I can get my start quite as safely that way as any other. Oh, yes, I've done it. Do you imagine, Jeanne dear, that I'd take an unnecessary risk so long as my life is the only possible protection there is for yours?"

He spent the rest of the day tunnelling out from the observatory. He did not dig in the snow; he simply packed it, gradually enlarging the space from a section the size of the pilot house door to a space at the cliff's edge wide enough for the full spread of his wings.

Jeanne was watching on the beach when he made his first flight from this aerial, and, in spite of her confidence in his powers, she endured a horrible moment or two. For he came hurtling down, head first, at an angle of 60 degrees; and he had traversed two-thirds of the distance to the beach before his line deflected outward and began curving up toward the horizontal.

When she saw that he was safe, that he had really done the thing he had said he could, she dropped down upon a bear-skin, which was spread before the hut, and shut her eyes, for what she had seen had turned her a bit giddy.

That feeling passed in a moment. She opened her eyes and lay, stretched at full length, upon the bear-skin, watching him as he wheeled and dipped, then towered aloft again in that fading violet sky, supremely masterful, majestically dominant of the unstable element he had conquered.

She sat up suddenly, erect, upon the bear skin, with the realization that it was nearly dark. Their hours of daylight were getting very scanty now. Today's allowance was gone, although it was not yet three in the afternoon.

She looked aloft for Cayley, but could not see him. Then, the next moment, she heard the whine of the air through his rigging, and he sailed down on a long slant and alighted beside her.

He got clear of his planes with an unaccountable air of haste, and held out both hands to help her rise.

"What do we do with sentinels who go to sleep on duty?" he questioned with a laugh.

"I wasn't asleep," she said contritely. "But it was just about as bad. I was thinking—" She paused there, is a modern product. From time immemorial sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost every one knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready to use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. Such a preparation is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, which is sold by all leading druggists for $50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or which is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price. Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists.

AN OLD-TIME PRESCRIPTION

IRON IN THE BLOOD

is an essential element to health.

When it is insufficient or lacking there is a dearth of red blood corpuscles, which causes anaemia and a run-down condition of the entire system, with consequent bodily weakness.

In order to restore the blood to a healthy condition, iron must be supplied in an easily assimilated form. We guarantee this may be done by Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, made without oil.

This combination of two world-famed tonics, restores to the blood the elements lacking to make rich, red blood, which imparts strength and vitality to every organ in the body.

J. Edmund Miller of New Haven, Conn., says their little girl had been frail and sickly ever since her birth. Vinol was recommended and they tried it, and immediately noticed an improvement in her condition. They continued to use it and it built her up, until they cannot recommend it too highly to build up a weakened system. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists, Rushville, Ind.

shutters over the windows. He would come in and would tell her what it was all about, in a moment.

The girl had hardly finished the task he had given her, when he came in. In his blood-stained hand he was holding out something for her inspection.

Conquering a feeling of repugnance, she bent over the hand, cast one glance at the thing it contained and then started up and gazed, wide-eyed, into his face.

"A bullet!" she said. "But—but we thought that Roscoe wasn't armed—not with fire arms, I mean."

Cayley nodded. "But this seems to be pretty good evidence that he is. That's why I sent you into the hut. It occurred to me that he might be following the bear, and that the lighted windows might give him a chance for a shot at one of us. No matter what superstitious fears he has, he could hardly be too much afraid to fire at us from a safe distance, if we happened to offer a fair mark."

"But we must have offered him that a hundred times in the last weeks, that is, if his rifle had anything like a modern range."

"That bullet is certainly a modern piece of ordnance," said Cayley. "It's soft-nosed and steel-jacketed."

He laid it down on a shelf and went into the storeroom to wash the stains of the encounter from his hands.

"After all," he said, "it's only one more mystery, and I don't know that one more can make any great difference. Not in our way of life, certainly."

Both tried to stick to that view of it, and for the present, to dismiss conjecture upon the new topic from their minds, but they did not succeed very well. The idea that forced itself upon them, in spite of their attempt to discredit it, was that Roscoe's acquisition of a modern, long-range weapon with ammunition to match did not date back to the murder of Captain Fielding, nor to the disappearance of the Aurora, but that he had found the weapon, by some strange chance, only very recently, perhaps within a day or two. It was a disquieting thought, at best.

It was time for Cayley to turn in and for Jeanne to begin her evening watch alone, but before that happened they paid an extra amount of attention to the security of their doors and windows.

It was a little before 11 o'clock when Cayley came out of a deep sleep to find her bending over him, shaking him by the shoulder and crying out his name.

"Get up quickly!" she said when she saw that he was awake. "Phillip, the hut's on fire!"

The curved bridges of Japan are of three kinds: Those known as spectacle bridges, with an arch in the center suggesting a pair of spectacles; the camelback bridges, which go up very high; the ordinary, one-arch, semi-circular bridges. The reason the Japanese so often have curved bridges is because until modern times they could not build them flat, and even today there is no keystone to the Japanese arches. They are not generally familiar with the keystones.

GOTHAM'S HUGE TERMINAL OPEN

Pennsylvania's Trains Go Under River to New York.

SIX YEARS' WORK REQUIRED.

Depot Is Largest Building Ever Constructed and With Train Yards Covers Twenty-three Acres—Electric Motors Three Times as Expensive as Steam Locomotives Are Used.

One minute after midnight on Nov. 27 the Pennsylvania railroad opened its mammoth terminal on Manhattan Island to all trains. Those of the Long Island system had used it, but never the through trains to the west and south.

Work on the Pennsylvania station was started May 1, 1904, so that practically six years and seven months were consumed in making the excavations for the foundation of the building and in constructing it. To clear the eight acres of ground occupied by the station meant the razing of some 500 buildings, among which were a number of churches.

The area of the station and yard is twenty-eight acres, and in this there are sixteen miles of track. The storage tracks alone will hold 386 cars. The length of the twenty-one standing tracks at the station is 21,500 feet. There are eleven passenger platforms, with twenty-five baggage and express elevators. The highest point of the tracks in the station is nine feet below sea level.

Dimensions of Terminal.

The station building is 784 feet long and 430 feet wide. The average height above the street is 69 feet, while the maximum is 153 feet. To light the building it takes about 500 electric arcs and 20,000 incandescents.

More than 150,000 cubic yards of concrete were required for the retaining walls, foundations, street bridging and the substructure. There are 650 columns supporting the station building, and the greatest weight on any of these is 1,658 tons.

The stonework of the station was completed on July 31, 1909. To inclose this vast area necessitated the building of exterior walls aggregating 2,458 feet, nearly half a mile, in length and has required 490,000 cubic feet of pink granite.

In addition to the granite the construction of this building has called for the use of 27,000 tons of steel. There have also been set in place some 15,000,000 bricks, weighing a total of 48,000 tons. The first stone of the masonry work on the building was laid June 15, 1908. The entire masonry was thus completed in approximately thirteen months after the work was begun.

Description of Tunnels.

The river tunnels leading to the station are, all told, 6.8 miles long, and the land tunnels have the same length. From the Bergen hill portal in New Jersey to the Long Island entrance of the tunnels is 5.3 miles. It is 8.6 miles from Harrison, N. J., to the station in New York, while from the latter point to Jamaica the distance is 11.85 miles.

The maximum capacity in trains per hour of all of the Pennsylvania tunnels is 144. The initial daily service will consist of 289 Pennsylvania and Long Island trains.

Protective devices abound in the yards and tunnels.

Every so often through the long length of the tube signal lights are seen. If an engineer attempts to run by one of these signals when it is set his train is stopped automatically by the shutting off of his current. At each signal is a telephone, to which the conductor has the key, that connects with the main signal station. Only when the signal station has released the train may it proceed upon its way.

Forty powerful motors operate the trains over the electrified system. Each one is twice as strong as a steam locomotive and cost over three times as much. They were built at the Altona shops of the railroad and equipped with Westinghouse motors for the sum of $50,000 apiece.

INDIAN TREATY AS EVIDENCE.

Government Uses Ancient Document in Riparian Lawsuit.

A treaty with the Indians of Chicago and vicinity, made in 1795 by General "Mad Anthony" Wayne, was introduced in evidence before Special United States Commissioner Neil Satterlee in the taking of testimony in the government's suit to enjoin the construction of a dam at Dresden Heights, Ill. The treaty was explained by Professor Alvord of the University of Illinois.

"It gave the government the right to use the Chicago, Desplaines and the portage to the Illinois river," he said. The government is seeking to prove that back in the fur trading days the Desplaines river was used as a navigable stream.

Pulp Wood Exports Grow. Canada's exports of pulp wood in 1909 amounted to only $168,180. In 1908 they had increased to $4,037,852.

YOUNG DESPERADOES

Rob Duluth Hotel, Kill Policeman, Rob Streetcar and Escape.

Duluth, Minn., Jan. 7.—Algot Johnson, aged seventeen, and William Muzary, aged twenty, night porter and bellboy at the McKay hotel of this city, robbed and shot at the night clerk, bound and gagged two other men in the hotel restaurant and escaped with about $50 in cash which they took from the till. Shortly afterward they were rounded up and placed on a streetcar after a chase through the interstate bridge district, and while being taken back to the city asked that they be allowed to go inside the car, which request being granted, one of the youthful bandits pulled a revolver and shot and killed Policeman Parry Chesmore.

The robbers then held up the passengers and crew of the streetcar and escaped.

The Deadly Line Shaft.

Bedford, Ind., Jan. 7.—James Forbes, a young man employed at the Furst Kerber stone mill, was caught by a shaft while trying to adjust a belt on a pulley. Nearly every bone in his body was broken, and his hands were torn from his body and thrown to the ground floor below. He died four hours later. Forbes came here from Lexington, Ky., where his parents live.

LURE OF POLITICS
TOO STRONG FOR HIM

Joe Blackburn Preparing to Re-enter the Game.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 7.—It is said that within a few days Joseph C. S. Blackburn, former senator from Kentucky and governor of the canal zone, will come out in opposition to Senator Thomas F. Paynter for the nomination for United States senator. While no official announcement has yet been made, state politicians state that Mr. Blackburn has been feeling the pulse of the Kentucky Democrats, looking toward his re-election to the senate.

When Blackburn returned from the canal zone, he stated that he was through with politics and intended living out his life in Versailles, Ky., where he has lived for nearly half a century. It is said that the lure of politics has become too strong.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE

Will File Minority Report in Senator Lorimer's Case.

FIGHT ON LORIMER TO OPEN UP MONDAY

Senator Beveridge Expected Then to File Minority Report.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Monday the storm that has been gathering over the Lorimer case is expected to break in the senate shortly after that body convenes. Senator Owen, who has given notice of his intention to address the senate in opposition to seating the accused senator from Illinois, will start the attack and Senator Beveridge, who is to file a minority report in opposition to Senator Lorimer, will also be heard.

The first count of noses with regard to the Lorimer case is likely to come when a motion is made to recommit to the committee on privileges and elections the report submitted to the senate prior to the holiday recess. It seems now that the motion will be defeated. Senator Borah and the Republican insurgents are against this course, believing it will result in long delay and non-action at this session of congress.

It is understood that the members of the privileges and elections committee are opposed to recommitment because they do not wish tacitly to admit that they have failed in the investigation they made. Senator Lorimer and his friends are said to be opposed to the plan to refer the matter back to the committee. The Democrats in the senate are lining up strongly against Lorimer.

Uncle Sam's New Industry.
Washington, Jan. 7.—A check for $402,000 has just been received by Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel in part payment of the sealskins belonging to this government recently sold in London. The skins were taken from male seals killed on the Pribilof Islands several months ago. About 14,000 male seals were killed, experts having reported that this killing was necessary to conserve the herd.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

President Taft is trying to reconcile the differences between Senators Curtis and Bristow of Kansas.

Sir John Aird, the well-known engineer, is dead in London. He built the Nile dams at Assouan and Assiout.

A fire which destroyed an old building in New York's Chinatown resulted in the death of four or five persons.

For the twelfth time in fifteen years the Delaware legislature is tied up on the election of a federal senator.

Mrs. Victoria Hornung and her little daughter and son were found asphyxiated by gas in their home at Chicago by neighbors.

In a general fight between Radicals and Socialists at Bilbao, Spain, in which the police took a hand, many heads were broken.

Charles Bremner Hogg, one of the organizers of the Standard Oil company, is dead at his home in Rye, N. Y., aged seventy-seven.

The negotiations for refunding the public debt of Honduras have reached a point where it is expected the loan agreement will be consummated.

A bill has been introduced into the California legislature which aims to put an end to racing in that state. The bill is along the lines of the New York anti-betting law.

Mrs. H. O. Banister, wife of the Raleigh, N. C., office manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, and her infant child were found dead in the bathroom of their residence, death resulting from gas asphyxiation.

The resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people will in all probability be reported favorably from the senate committee on judiciary.

NO RESPITE FOR RICH OFFENDERS

President Taft Hands Down a Notable Decision.

HARLAN MUST STAY IN PRISON

Big Southern Lumber Man Convicted on Peonage Charge Got Cold Comfort When He Appealed to President Taft For Pardon, the Executive Holding That a Deterrent Example Is Necessary.

Washington, Jan. 7.—President Taft expressed his belief that fines are not sufficient punishment for wealthy men and that imprisonment is necessary where violation of a criminal statute is proved, in refusing the application for the pardon of W. S. Harlan, convicted of violation of the peonage law and sentenced to pay a fine of $5,000 and be imprisoned for eighteen months. Harlan is manager of a great lumber and turpentine company doing business in Florida and Alabama.

"The government of the United States has been at great pains and cost to suppress peonage," says the president's decision. "It is much more likely to be maintained successfully where, as in these cases, the laborers are foreigners and do not speak English and hardly know their rights. It is a kind of offense that is regarded lightly in some communities. If permitted to live at all it will spread rapidly its demoralizing influence.

"When therefore a man of high business standing and large enterprises is convicted of the offense, the punishment should be such as to deter others from the practice. Fines are not effective against men of wealth. Imprisonment is necessary. I am well aware of the grievous character of confinement in jail to a man of Mr. Harlan's standing, and I should be glad to yield to the urgent appeals of his many friends, but I cannot do so. I believe him to be guilty of the charge of which he was convicted. To retain and enforce the imprisonment part of the sentence will operate powerfully to prevent a recurrence of such offenses by men of large affairs and business standing. To relieve such an one of penalty of imprisonment and when properly convicted and sentenced would be to break the authority of the law with those of power and influence and would tempt on their part further breaches. What is worse, it would give real ground for the contention so often heard that it is only the poor criminals who are really punished."

DEFALCATION GROWS

Investigation of Robin Case Has Just Touched the High Spots.

New York, Jan. 7.—Seven additional indictments have been returned by the grand jury against Joseph G. Robin, the banker, charging him with stealing $207,000 from the Washington Savings bank, of which he was president. These, added to the indictment found last week charging Robin with the theft of $80,000 from the same institution, bring the amount he is accused of taking from the Washington bank up to $287,000.

This in all probability does not represent the entire amount of Robin's thefts from the savings bank, for the grand jury has not finished its examination of Robin's dealings with the Washington. The operations which led to the closing of the Northern bank have yet to be gone into.

Returning Soldier Killed.
Bloomfield, Ind., Jan. 7.—While returning home from the Philippine islands, where he had been serving his time in the United States army, and had received his discharge, Jerry Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, living a short distance west of here, near Switz City, met with a violent death at San Francisco. He was killed there by a fall.

Illinois Wastes Half Its Coal.
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 7.—In his message to the Forty-seventh Illinois assembly, Governor Deneen declared that Illinois was wasting approximately 50 per cent of its coal by present mining methods and was killing three of every thousand men employed. He recommended that the geological survey of the state be amply financed to correct this.

BRAND WHITLOCK

Toledo's Mayor Barred by Cleveland Churches.

NOT WELCOME

Cleveland Preachers Won't Let Brand Whitlock Speak in Churches.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 7.—The pastors of two of Cleveland's churches have barred Brand Whitlock, mayor of Toledo, from speaking there because of the socialistic tendency of his speeches and his views upon the "open" town and saloon. Whitlock has been invited to address the Cleveland Federation of Women's clubs on Jan. 18, and the women say he will speak here even if they have to hire an auditorium.

When Rev. Dan F. Bardley of Pilgrim Congregational church and Rev. R. H. Bigger, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, were asked to donate the use of their churches they refused.

"Whitlock is a force against righteousness," was the explanation Rev. Dr. Bardley gave. "His views on the social and liquor evils cannot be tolerated," said Rev. Dr. Bigger.

NOW QUITE WILLING TO SUBMIT PROOFS

Explorer Peary Tells Congress He Reached Pole.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Commander Peary, the Arctic explorer, appeared before a sub-committee of the house committee on naval affairs today to present proofs in substantiation of his claim that he reached the north pole. After this formality has been gone through with, it is probable that the sub-committee will recommend to the full committee, which will concur, that Mr. Peary be placed on the retired list of the navy with the rank and pay of a rear admiral of the staff.

At the last session of congress, when a proposal to have congress honor Peary was turned down by the naval affairs committee, an invitation was extended to Peary to appear and present his proofs. He declined at that time, owing to the fact that his book detailing his story of the discovery of the pole had not been published and his contract with his publishers did not permit any latitude in the matter. Now, however, it is understood that he is more than willing to submit all his records.

BROODED OVER SENTENCE

Convict Who Said He Was Innocent Stabbed Prison Guard.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Jan. 7.—E. P. Law, a guard at the Indiana state reformatory, was stabbed in the left breast over the heart, by William Russell, a convict, with a large pair of shears used in the shirt department, where Russell was employed. The wound is an inch and a half deep, but missed a vital spot. Law was able to go to his home. Russell is about twenty-two years old and was sent up from Floyd county in November, 1909, for burglary. No cause is known for the attempted murder, except that Russell brooded over his sentence. He recently told Superintendent Peyton that he was innocent and should not have been sent up.

Convicted in Canal Court.

Panama, Jan. 7.—Petersen, an American, and Silvers, a German, proprietors of the Metropole, a large hotel here, were tried in the canal zone court on the charge of aiding and abetting the embezzlement of provisions from the canal commission, and were found guilty on six charges on the indictment. Hines, an American employee of the canal commission, who was the principal in the case, was convicted last month on the charge of embezzlement.

They Will Appeal.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—Fines of $40,000 each have been imposed on the Reading railway, the Lehigh Valley railroad and Bethlehem Steel company in the United States district court. These companies were convicted last June, the railroads of giving and the steel company of receiving allowances of demurrage charges in violation of the interstate commerce law. The companies will appeal.

WILL TALK ON NEW SUBJECT

Evangelist Baker to Discuss Different

Topic at Men's Meeting in Glenwood Sunday.

CONDUCTING MEETING THERE

Evangelist Baker, who is conducting a series of revival meetings in the Glenwood M. E. church, will deliver a lecture for men only in the church Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. His subject will be "Something that is not Known to Every Man or Boy over Twelve Years of Age, but Should be Known to All." No boy under twelve years of age will be admitted. It is said that the Rev. Mr. Baker talks on a subject that is seldom ever brought before the public by an evangelist or any speaker. Prof. Hutchins is assisting the Rev. Mr. Baker in the meetings and leads the singing.

The Times-Echo of Eureka Springs, Ark., says of the Glenwood evangelist: Rev. Baker's address given to men at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon was a master effort and should have been listened to by every man and every father in Eureka Springs. We commend the effort of the evangelist relative to the subject, "Something that is not known to every man or boy over twelve years of age, but should be known by all," and give it public editorial mention in this paper.

PLANNING TO GO TO CORN SCHOOL

Several Prominent Rush County
Farmers Will Attend Course at Purdue Next Week.

EXODUS FROM RUSH IS SMALL

Several Rush county farmers are planning to attend the corn school in connection with the Farmers' Short Course, which will be held at Purdue University at Lafayette the coming few weeks, beginning next Monday. The corn school will be in session all next week. Among the prominent farmers from here who will attend are Will Alexander, Thomas A. Coleman, James Lock and Will Shanahan. Several other farmers are contemplating going, but have not as yet definitely decided.

One farmer remarked this morning that there was scarcely a county in the State that did not send at least twenty farmers to the corn school. He wondered why more Rush county farmers did not take advantage of the rare opportunity to learn more about their own vocation.

Earl Harton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harton, living northwest of the city will enter the Farmers' Short Course at Purdue next week. It continues for six weeks.

In England and Wales the birth rate has been declining for many years.

Russia ranks third among European countries in the number of cotton spindles.

"THE HOME FOR SAVINGS"

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

Begins Tuesday, January 3d and Closes Saturday, January 14th

It is impossible to judge exactly in advance the amount of goods we can sell in a season, consequently we find our stock overcrowded in some departments. As we have determined not to carry over goods from one season to another but to always have a new, clean supply of up-to-date merchandise for each season, we have gone through our stock and in departments where we are overcrowded we priced everything so low that it will need no argument to convince you that you cannot afford to miss this opportunity to save yourself money by buying these goods at prices quoted below. Because of the very low price on these articles, everything is strictly cash.
